Summary

With over 18 years in software engineering and recent leadership roles, I specialize in building high-performance engineering teams and driving transformative technology initiatives. At Matter, I lead cross-functional teams to deliver cutting-edge solutions in real-time telemetry and AI-enabled platform integrations, contributing to the acceleration of Software Defined Vehicles and Autonomous Industry Development Vehicles (AIDVs). My expertise includes engineering leadership, vendor partnerships, and stakeholder management. At Matter, I have spearheaded the development of scalable, event-driven platforms such as Galaxy 2.0 and MatterVerse, enabling real-time data processing and innovative solutions in mobility and connected vehicle platforms. Committed to fostering collaboration and optimizing engineering execution, I focus on leveraging technology to deliver impactful and forward-thinking solutions that redefine the future of mobility.
